about
KAUFMAN MUSIC CENTER

Kaufman Music Center is the premier destination for learning and listening to music in New York City. Our performance hall presents today's most compelling artists, and our schools offer outstanding education in music, dance and theater to people of all ages and experience levels.

We proudly program a comprehensive musical experience for students, performers and audiences in New York and beyond. Merkin Hall, the Center's intimate performance venue, provides unparalleled access to groundbreaking artists. We cultivate and nurture new generations of artists through Special Music School, New York's only K-12 public school prioritizing an intensive, immersive and musically-focused education without financial barriers, as well as Lucy Moses School, Manhattan's largest community performing arts school for students of all ages.

moments

The 2024–25 season at Kaufman Music Center is filled with opportunities to connect, to be curious, and to be thrilled by musicians working at the highest levels of their craft. Merkin Hall’s pitch perfect acoustics create a singular opportunity for you to be a part of music’s cutting edge from classical masterworks, to Broadway and jazz, to contemporary composition and improvisation.

Beginning this fall, Rob Kapilow continues his pioneering series ‘What Makes It Great?’ demystifying masterpieces ranging from The Nutcracker to Ella Fitzgerald’s innovations of jazz standards. Sean Hartley celebrates all that we love about Broadway with his signature approach of joy and heart. Galvin Cello Quartet and violinist Njioma Grevious blaze trails for the future of the classical music recital. In the spring we look forward to premieres from visionary composer/performer Meredith Monk and four-time Grammy nominee Curtis Stewart. Soprano Taylor Raven joins the legacy of career-making artist debuts on our ‘Tuesday Matinees’ series. Simone Dinnerstein guides us into the musical tapestries of Philip Glass and Johann Sebastian Bach, and pianist Mikael Darmanie expands our conceptions of what is possible at the piano. Join us for a thrilling new season.
